Introduction

Massachusetts Municipal Profiles was designed to provide concise yet comprehensive one page profiles for every city and town in Massachusetts. Drawing on a wide variety of established resources, the profiles clearly display over 100 vital pieces of information about a community's population, government, housing, finance, and schools. This information has been carefully selected from the enormous amount available with one goal in mind: to provide those facts that have the greatest interest to the broadest cross-section of readers.

The book contains one page for every city and town in the commonwealth. These pages are arranged alphabetically, by town name. Each page has the same format which organizes the data into nine categories. The result: information about a specific town can be found rapidly, and comparisons between towns can be made easily.

In addition to the profile pages which constitute the main portion of the book, there are three appendices. The first provides demographic information about the state as a whole, and for each of the 14 counties. The second provides information about regional and non-local public schools which many students attend. The third provides the names and districts of the elected representatives for each municipality. All are intended to supplement the profiles, and round out the portrait they present.

In order to make the most of the data presented, it is important to understand how the profiles were compiled, and what the information they present means. But before reviewing each item of the profile individually (which is done below), it will be useful to provide some general background.

In the course of preparing the book and developing the profile pages, a host of questions were asked while doing the research, and establishing the format. These questions concerned our sources and methodology, our format and presentation of the data on the pages, and other aspects of the book. The questions made us think, and undoubtedly helped to make this edition better than it would have been otherwise. Instead of providing a long, discursive introduction, the many questions we received have been distilled to six basic questions, (both quite general, and very specific in nature), which are posed and then answered.

1. How did you go about collecting the information?

Almost all of the information has actually been collected by an agency of state or federal government. Using such information assures a level of accuracy, comprehensiveness, and reliability, that just would not be possible otherwise. However, just because the information has been collected by a government agency, does not mean that it has been published, or that it is readily available. Indeed, as many government agencies collect information largely for their own internal use, the data remains stored on computer tapes, or sometimes, on the actual forms used for collection. We have tried to conduct a comprehensive inventory of what is available, selecting those items that look promising for consideration, doing an evaluation, and finally choosing the most appropriate pieces of information. However, no matter from which agency we obtained the information, (or what its format), our goal was the same: to provide accurate, reliable and useful information to our readers based on the most recent sources available for all 351 cities and towns.

2. Why is some of the data so old?

Although some of the data may seem old, actually it isn't. The oldest data appearing on the profile pages is in the demographic and housing categories, and it comes from the 1980 U.S. Census. The census is done every 10 years, and although there are intercensal updates, a midterm state census, and other demographic studies, no effort of comparable size and scope is even attempted. The U.S. Census, despite its flaws and inadequacies, is still the best, most complete and reliable source of recent demographic information. Even though the information presented here is for the year 1980, the statistical portrait created by the data displayed has lasting value. It should also be remembered that although the data was collected in 1980, much of it did not become available until 1983 and 1984.

In looking at the rest of the profile page, all other information dates from the last year or two. Most information comes from state government sources where it takes at least a year to collect and compile. For example, police and crime data for 1988, was available in August, 1989, and school data for 1987–1988 was just beginning to become available in early 1989. Just like some individuals, local government is sometimes slow in filling out the long, involved forms required by state agencies. Additionally, state government has a large job collecting, compiling, and reviewing the information it receives. The result is a substantial time lag between the date of the information, and when it becomes available.

3. In some places on a few of the pages, why are there blank spots or the letters NA instead of data?

Blank spaces, or the notation, NA, (for not available), are fairly rare, as we went to great lengths to obtain all the data that was available. In those cases when such notations were necessary they indicate one of several conditions. Most likely, they indicate that the information was never sent to the data collecting agency, or was not available at the data collecting agency at press time. In some cases (as with crime information) reporting is voluntary, and some towns have chosen not to report. In other cases, the category or descriptor just does not apply to the town (as in the case of local school systems without high schools). In a few cases, a report has been filed with the data collecting agency but it did not include the specific line of information we were looking for.

4. In looking closely at the pages, why do many of the sub-groups of categories not add to the total?

This is because only selected sub-groups (chosen for their potential interest to readers of this book) have been displayed. Household information and housing units, fall into this category of selected material. However, sub-groups for sex, race, age, area, registered voters, and high school graduates do add to the total shown. (Under taxation, the sub-groups for valuation should be close to the total, differences to be accounted for by rounding).

5. Why haven't you provided an index or bibliography?

Actually each page is self-indexed, and as each profile page has the same format, there would be no real purpose to an independent index. It is anticipated that the main use for this book will be looking for information about a specific town, and users of the volume can just turn to that profile page.

In regard to a bibliography, besides the academic problem of citing computer tapes and telephone surveys, it was judged to be more useful to readers to cite the sources when explaining the data, rather than providing a separate list. This is done below.

6. What item of information did you want to include, but didn't?

For the most part, what was left out was just not available. More recent income statistics, migration into and out of towns, and recent unemployment rates would have been beneficial to include, if they existed.

However, our wish list is not as important as yours. If you have an idea of what can be added (or deleted for that matter), or any suggestion on how our book can be improved and made more responsive to your information needs, please write us and let us know. All communication from readers is both welcomed and appreciated.

Explaining the Categories, Headings, and Terms

Municipal Name

Underneath the name of the municipality appears the name of the county in which the municipality is located. Also above the rule is the address and telephone number used by the town for conducting municipal business (most frequently the office of the Clerk or Board of Selectmen). This information was updated through a mail survey of each municipality conducted in June of 1989.

Demographics & Socio-Economic Characteristics

All information in this category (with three exceptions) come from the 1980 U.S. Census. Detailed census reports, including specially designed computer printouts from unpublished census material, were prepared for us by the Massachusetts State Data Center, part of MISER (Massachusetts Institute for Social and Economic Research) at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. The three exceptions are: the 1986 population figure which comes from the U.S. Bureau of the Census; the 1990 and 1995 population projections which were prepared by MISER using a cohort survival method (these are provisional figures which will be revised later this year and periodically thereafter); and the 1985 income figures which come from the U.S. Bureau of the Census. The rest is 1980 U.S. Census data.

In order to fully appreciate census information, it is important to understand how the Bureau collects its data and defines its terms.

All U.S. households receive a census questionnaire. In 1980, approximately 81% received a short form with 19 basic questions about age, race, sex, marital status, and the like, along with some basic questions about the housing unit that was occupied. Approximately 19% of all households received a long form which included the basic 19 questions along with 46 others, for a total of 65. These additional questions concerned educational attainment, occupation, income, labor force status, as well as more detailed housing questions. Response to the basic 19 questions, which appeared on all forms, constitute 100% or complete count data. Results from the remaining 46 questions of the long form, constitute sample data, which is used to estimate totals. Most items on the profile page are based on complete count data, however, some items are based on sample data. Educational attainment, households receiving public aid, households receiving social security income, income and poverty information, and civilian labor force data are all based on responses to questions on the long form. However, all other information is complete count data. (Interested readers should note that in order to maintain statistical reliability in places of less than 2,500 inhabitants, more than 19% of households receive the long form.)

To supplement its results and explain terminology, the Bureau has provided a 67 page glossary of terms which is incorporated into their valuable User's Guide. The glossary is a comprehensive and informative dictionary, and the definitions provided below are based on its entries.

Race, as used by the Bureau of the Census is not meant to denote any scientific or biological concept of race. The subgroups displayed here represent the self-categorization of respondents. It should also be noted that Spanish origin is not a racial category. Persons may be of any race, and be Spanish origin as well. As a result, only the five sub-groups under race add to the total 1980 population.

Educational attainment reflects the highest grade of school completed by adults 25 years old and older, and is based on responses to long form questions.

A household is the person or persons occupying a housing unit. A housing unit is the physical structure the people occupy (for further definition, see Housing & Construction below). Not all persons live in households. Some, for example, are members of the armed forces, or are inmates of institutions, or live in group quarters. As a result the total number of persons in a city or town can be greater than the number of persons living in all households of that town. A family is a type of household, one in which two or more persons (including the householder) who are related by birth, marriage, or adoption, live together. Thus, there can be one person households, but no one person families. The subgroups displayed here under households were selected for potential interest and by no means represent a full breakdown of all types of households. Readers should also note that there is overlapping amongst types of households. For example, the same household may have members both under 18 years of age and over 65.

Income and poverty data are derived from responses to questions appearing on the long form. The term income includes income of all types: salary and wages, business and farm, dividend and interest, income from government programs; and all other types of income. Poverty status has been determined by the Bureau by comparing income with certain federally established threshold levels. These levels, when taken as a group, are referred to as the poverty level or the poverty line. Persons with income below the threshold levels are considered to be in poverty. The levels themselves vary according the household size, number of children, and age of the householder, and are adjusted each year in accordance with the consumer price index.

Displayed on the profile page is the total number of all persons below the poverty line.

The civilian labor force is comprised of all persons 16 years old and older who are not in the armed forces and are either employed or unemployed. Employed persons are those who are at work at a job or business, or those who are temporarily absent from work due to illness, vacation, strike, or personal reasons. Thus for the Bureau, those persons who perform their own housework, schoolwork, or volunteer work for religious, charitable or similar organizations are not classified as employed. They are either not a member of the labor force or they are unemployed. Unemployed persons are those who are seeking and able to accept work. Self employed persons are those who work for profit or for a fee in their own unincorporated business, trade, profession, or farm.

General Information

All items appearing under this heading come from unpublished town profiles compiled by the Executive Office of Communities and Development. This series of monographs was discontinued in 1984. A few of the profiles were incomplete, and for a few towns, there was no profile available in the archival collection of the Massachusetts State Library.

The number of persons per square mile was computed by the editor using the 1980 population and the total area. In those towns where only the land area is shown, land area and 1980 population are used.

Type of government lists the form of government in use, and the number of members on the board of selectmen or town council. Those towns with representative town meetings have the number of representatives indicated in parenthesis. Other forms of municipal government are shown when applicable.

Voters & Government Officials

Registered voters was compiled from a list provided by the state Board of Elections, reflecting voter registration as of August, 1988.

The names of municipal officials were gathered from a mail survey done in June, 1989 by the editor.

A list of elected representatives of each town to the U.S. House of Representatives, the Executive Council, and the General Court (state legislature) may be found in Appendix C and is provided by the offices of the Clerk of the Senate and Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Public Safety

Names of the police and fire chiefs come from our mail survey done in June, 1989. Sworn officers, crime statistics (crime rate and number of crimes) comes from Crime in Massachusetts, 1988*. This is an annual publication of the Crime Reporting Unit of the Massachusetts Department of Public Safety. In looking at the crime rate, readers should be aware of a number of factors. First, the crime rate is per 1,000 residents. In small towns of less than 2,500, the addition or deletion of a single crime can substantially affect the rate. Therefore, in this revised edition, the actual number of both violent crimes and property crimes have been listed. (Violent crime is defined as criminal homicide, forcible rape, robbery and aggravated assault. Property crime is defined as burglary, larceny, motor vehicle theft, and arson.) Crime statistics are based on crimes known to police, and readers should be aware that estimates for the amount of unreported crimes vary widely. Reporting of crimes to the Massachusetts Department of Public Safety is voluntary, and a number of cities and towns have chosen not to report.

Under Fire, both the name of the chief and type of department are provided. They come from our June, 1989 mail survey. Paid indicates the presence of paid firefighters (full or part-time) who work regular shifts. Call indicates firefighters who do not work regular shifts, but are paid either each time they go out, or a fixed annual sum. Volunteer indicates firefighters who receive no monetary compensation from the town for fighting fires. Towns with a combination of paid, call, or volunteer departments will have more than one entry in this space.

Housing & Construction

All housing and construction data comes from the 1980 U.S. Census and was provided to us by the Massachusetts State Data Center.

A housing unit is a house, apartment, mobile home or trailer, group of rooms, or single room occupied as a separate living quarter or, if vacant, intended as a separate living quarter. Separate living quarters are those in which the occupants live and eat separately from any other persons in the building, and which have direct access from the outside of the building or through a common hall. A year round housing unit is not intended for year-round use, and excludes seasonal and migratory housing units. Three different characteristics of year-round housing units have been selected for display here. It should be noted that these three characteristics are from sample data of the U.S. Census (see Demographic & Socio-Economic Characteristics above).

Statistics for new privately owned housing units authorized by building permit come from U.S. Bureau of the Census data. Places which issue permits are asked to report on a monthly basis to the Bureau. Those that have only reported for a portion of a year are noted. The number of permits issued should not be confused with the number of housing starts or the number of houses actually built.

Taxation

Information in this section comes from Tax Rate Recapitulation forms filed by individual cities and towns with the Massachusetts Department of Revenue. Information is for fiscal year 1989 (ending June 30, 1989). In almost all towns, taxable property is divided into five categories and a different rate may be applied to each. A few towns do not have property divided into classes (due to a pending revaluation, or for other reasons), and in these cases the single rate and total valuation are shown. Valuation is in millions of dollars, and rates are per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Although cities and towns are required to assess all real property at 100% of true value, this may not be the final result. Readers are cautioned that a house in town X selling for $100,000 may have a different tax bill from a house in town Y selling for $100,000 even if both towns have the same tax rates. A variety of factors affect this, most notably the date of the last revaluation.

Municipal Finance

Information in this section comes from audited reports filed by individual cities and towns with the Massachusetts Department of Revenue. The form is known as Schedule A, 'Annual City and Town Financial Report for the Year Ending June 30, 1987.' We have shown Total Revenues, which include revenues from school funds, along with all other revenue funds received by the governing body. Selected sources of revenues are also shown. However, as only selected revenue sources are shown, they do not add to the total.

Total Expenditures include all expenditures of the governing body, along with school funds. As is the case with revenues, because only selected subgroups of expenditures are displayed, they also do not add to the total. Debt information in this section also comes from Schedule A of the same report.

Library

The library statistics come from Selected Public Library Statistics, 1988, a publication of the Massachusetts Board of Library Commissioners. It should be noted that the statistics presented are all per capita figures (using 1980 population totals), and are derived for 327 of the 347 municipalities that have a library. Those municipalities with two libraries, display the names and address of both libraries, and the statistical data is for the combined total of both. For those towns with more than two libraries, statistics are provided for the combined total of all libraries, however, directory information could not be included for space reasons.

Total operating expenses include all current operating expenditures, including those for library materials, wages and salaries, maintenance, and related expenses. Expenditures for library material isolates expenditures for those items actually used by library patrons (such as books, magazines, newspapers, phonograph records, and the like). Holdings is the total number of library materials. Circulation is the number of items checked out of the library directly, and through inter-library loan. Again all statistics are per capita.

School System

Information displayed under headings for this section is for the school year 1987–1988 with the exception of per pupil expenditure (1986–1987 school year was the most recent available figure), high school graduates, (which is the class of 1987), and resident students attending non-public schools (which is as of January, 1988). All information comes from, A Complete Listing of Massachusetts Schools, 1987–1988 compiled by the Massachusetts Department of Education and published by the office of the Massachusetts Secretary of State; and from computer generated reports of the Massachusetts Department of Education derived in turn from '1987-1988 End of Year Pupil and Financial Report' EYPFR, a comprehensive annual statistical report completed by all school systems and filed with the department.

In this section of each individual profile page, facts about local school systems (and only local school systems) are presented. Local school systems are those administered by a city or town school committee, with expenses paid by that city or town. Resident pupils may attend local schools free of charge while other pupils (if any) are charged tuition (which is usually paid by their town of residence). Not every town operates a school system, and amongst those that do, not all operate a system which encompasses every grade. Those towns which do not operate a school system have that notation in this space. For such towns, the only entry in this category is under the heading, participates in, where the school system to which resident children are sent is listed. In most cases, the city or town is a member of a regional system. However, in those few cases where a town is not a member, but instead pays tuition for its resident students in a receiving system (and that receiving system may either be a regional system or a local school system in a nearby town) the notation, tuitions out, (followed by the grades tuitioned out), is placed after the name of the receiving system.

There are actually five types of public school systems which can relate to an individual community's educational offering. There are local school systems which are described here on the profile page. In addition there are two types of regional school systems, academic regional systems, and vocational-technical regional school systems. Both regional system types are administered by regional school committees, and the expenses of the system are divided according to pre-arranged formula amongst member cities and towns. There are also independent vocation school systems (administered by a board of trustees with the expenses paid by the city in which they are located), and county agricultural school systems (administered by a board of trustees, with expenses paid by county tax assessments). Information about these other four types of school systems is found in Appendix B, which is arranged by school system number. This number is useful in identifying types of systems. Local school systems are numbered 001-351, independent vocational school systems are numbered 401-408, academic regional school systems are numbered 600-780, vocational technical school systems are numbered 801-885, and county agricultural school systems are numbered 910-915.

Some towns rely on a combination of both local schools and regional schools to serve their needs. For example, Eastham operates a K-4 local school system (more about this grade breakdown below). It sends resident pupils in grades 5-12 to either academic regional school system #660 Nauset Regional, or to regional vocational-technical school system #815 Cape Cod Vocational. Information about the local schools is found on the Eastham page, information about the regional school system is found in Appendix B.

Under grade plan, all grade spans used in individual schools in a system are shown. Thus a system displaying K-6, 7-8, 9-12, has schools which begin in kindergarten and go through grade six; junior high schools for grade 7 and 8; and senior high schools for grades 9 through 12. Such a system may have only three schools or more (the grade plan does not display a total of all schools, just all plans used in schools). However all schools in the system will be organized according to one of the plans shown. A variety of plans are used by various districts throughout the commonwealth. In addition to the standard abbreviation of K used for kindergarten, an N is used for nursery school programs. Systems which operate schools with an ungraded plan include the word ungraded in this entry.

Enrollment, shows the total enrollment of all programs in the school system, and is intended to give an idea of the size of the system. High school enrollment is the total enrollment in all high schools of the system. (where systems have schools which include grades other than 9-12 or 10-12, the fact that other grades are included in high school total is noted.)

Average teachers salary was provided by the Massachusetts Department of Education for teachers in regular day programs, 1987-1988. It is very important to recognize that this average has nothing at all to do with teachers' wage and salary agreements, or contracts with teachers' organizations.

Per pupil expenditures were also computed by the Massachusetts Department of Education and are for 1986-1987. The expenditures represent an integrated pupil cost. The department's goal has been to represent the average cost of education for all children residing in the community, regardless of which public school system they attend. Thus the department adds all local system current expenditures with assessed regional system costs and tuition paid to other districts. This total is then divided by the sum of pupils in local schools, regional and other public schools, special needs day and residential schools. The result is the per pupil expenditure.

Distribution of high school graduates, 1987, displays what the class of 1987 did upon graduation. Only those systems that have high school programs have information displayed here. Public school pupils from towns who attend an out of system secondary school are shown in the totals displayed for that system.

Under, participates in, there is a list of regional school systems to which the town belongs (if any), or other school systems to which the town sends resident children on a tuition basis.

Resident students attending non-public schools, provides a total number for pupils residing in a city or town who attend non-public schools, was well as expressing that total as a percent of all children residing in that city or town who attend school. Figures presented are as of January, 1988.

Appendices

The appendices have been provided for supplementing the information which appears on the individual profile pages. Information in the appendices comes from the same source as the corresponding item on the profile page. Appendix A provides demographic and socio-economic characteristics for the state as a whole and for each of its fourteen counties. This portion of the profile page has been reset, three to a page, so as to provide generally the same information in this category for the state and it's counties as has been provided for each of the cities and towns.

In Appendix B information about independent vocational schools, academic regional schools, vocational-technical regional schools, and county agricultural schools is provided. As with the demographic and housing data found in the first appendix, the school system portion of the profile page has been reset, six to a page so as to provide the same information about these other types of schools systems as was provided for local schools systems. Appendix B is arranged by school system number as assigned by the Massachusetts department of Education and described in detail under School System above.

One difference should be noted which concerns the heading, participates in, which has been changed to, receives pupils from. This change enables readers to look at a regional school system and determine where its students come from.

Councillor Districts, State Senatorial Districts, and State Representative Districts were changed throughout the state in 1989. Appendix C reflects those changes and gives the names of elected officials serving each district, by town, through 1990. Information comes from the offices of the Clerk of the Senate and Clerk of the House of Representatives.
